Happy Monday Dotties! The end of November and the countdown commences until the end of 2023 – how can the year have flown by so quickly!

Take a look at our Polka Dot Directory and our Honeymoon Directory for vendors who will inspire you. Choose from Accommodation, and Wedding Planners. We also have Cakes, Venues and Jewellery – and check out our Honeymoon Directory – for services in Australia and overseas.

Check out the Polka Dot Directory for wedding vendors who will love your wedding as much as you!

Choosing your wedding gown and wearing it on your wedding day is one of the most exciting parts of the wedding, but preserving your gown after the wedding day in a pristine state, might not be something you think of during your wedding planning. For many reasons, your wedding gown will be a treasured item over your lifetime and generations beyond, so having your gown cleaned and preserved with “truly green, MuseumCare™ wedding gown cleaning, (and) wedding gown restoration” should be left to the experts Association of Wedding Gown Specialists. Not just any drycleaner will be able to clean and preserve a wedding gown correctly, so trusting this sentimental item to the specialists should be a high priority.

Association of Wedding Gown Specialists certify their members, and as well as being located in 500 cities throughout the world, are also located in NSW, WA, VIC, QLD and Tasmania in Australia. Additional services they offer are destination wedding kits for travelling with your gown, restoration of a yellowed and stained vintage wedding gown, a museum quality container for your gown and a written international guarantee, as well as emergency gown care.

Oh and for some care tips written by our experts Association of Wedding Gown Specialists, check out these posts – Top Things To Know About Caring for your Gown and How To Preserve and Restore your Wedding Gown and Travelling With Your Wedding Gown.

Visit Association of Wedding Gown Specialists’ pages to find out more about our Vendor Of The Week.
